"AIR-TIGHT AND GREAT WINDY."

An Explanation from the Originator of the Name.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, Dec. 22, 1881.

Ed. Bulletin: Some friend favored me with a copy of last week's Republican in which I find a letter from a "Pound Gap," enthusiast, written from from his mountain aerie in Letcher county. He assails the Republican for having called the Covington, Flemingsburg and Pound Gap Railroad, the "Air-Tight and Great Windy." And the "present management" of the Republican puts the blame on my shoulders, by avowing its staunch friendship for the road and objects to being held "responsible for what another man wrote some few years since." Well, as the "present editor" of the Republican makes a parade of honesty and morality, on the high-pressure plan, I am inclined to think he ought to know the facts attending the birth of the C. F. & P. G., R. R., and the share that Maysville contributed to hasten that event—as our Irish friends would say, "unbeknowns to herself." Not having the files at hand I must rely upon memory. The facts are briefly and substantially these: When certain precincts of Fleming county voted a tax for building the M. & L. road, it was agreed that Maysville should contribute an equal sum for a branch from Flemingsburg to the main stem whenever the people of Fleming were ready to build it. Some years after the main stem of the road was in operation, a delegation of Fleming folks waited on the Maysville city council with a proposition for a branch road from Flemingsburg to a point on the main line at or near Helena. They wanted money, and $500 were given them, to be credited on the Maysville subscription previously promised, but this was given with the impression that the gentlemen were representing the "branch road," and nothing else; indeed they never hinted otherwise. Imagine, then, the surprise of our people when the high-sounding Covington, Flemingsburg & Pound Gap Railroad was sprung upon them, tapping the main line at what is now Elizaville Station, and tending to the injury rather than the benefit of Maysville. Imagine, also, the "barrels of profanity" that were discharged by at least one member of the city council whose zeal for the road was thus betrayed. To make a long story short the original Covington, Flemingsburg & Pound Gap Railroad was helped along with money obtained under false pretenses, to use no harsher term. And this was the concern that I dubbed "Air-Tight and Great Windy." Does the "present editor of the Republican claim to be a staunch friend" to that management?

But perhaps the "Air-Tight and Great Windy" of the past is not the "Cincinnati & Southern" of the present. It was a good idea for the new managers to change the name. It was a bad idea for Maysville to let them change the route. Running through Maysville, the road would have been of great benefit to your people—manufacturers especially. Running through Mayslick, it will be of great injury to you. I think council committed a grave error by refusing to submit the proposition to the citizens; but with past experience before them their actions should not be censured too sharply.

The "present editor" of the Republican may learn a good deal about local railroad enterprises if he will consult the files of that paper he has and which I have not. When I founded the Republican there was not even talk of a railroad in Maysville; and the one that has been built, and each of those that has been projected, received the heartiest support from the paper while it was under my control, as, indeed, did every public improvement that gave promise of good to the people. I should dislike very much to answer for the sins of those who have controlled its columns since June, 1879.

Very respectfully,

THOMAS A. DAVIS.

P. S.—You will observe that I have not followed the orthography of the "p. e." of the Republican. My geography, acquired in a log school house in Fleming county, taught me to spell Flemingsburg without an "h," and that Mayslick was one word. How does this look: May's Ville?

Cincinnati's Small-pox.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The visitation now upon us was predicted in Dr. Minor's report for 1879, at a time when the city was entirely free from the disease. Unless some radical steps are taken the same authority predicts a repetition this year and in 1882 and 1883 of the scenes of the winters of 1871, 1872 and 1873, when hundreds of lives were destroyed and thousands of dollars' worth of trade driven from the city. The epidemic of 1869-1870 cost the city 800 lives. During the winter of 1871-1872 1,400 people fell victims to the criminal neglect of the authorities in not making vaccination compulsory. During the winter of 1875-1876 1,100 more victims were sacrificed. The awful record for this winter is now being made up. In Great Britain and in Germany, where the compulsory vaccination obtains, small-pox as an epidemic is unknown.

'THIS is the way a Vassar girl tells a joke: "Oh, girls, I heard just the best thing to-day. It was too funny. I can't remember how it came about, but one of the girls said to Prof. Mitchell—oh, dear, I can't remember just what she said, but Prof. Mitchell's answer was just too funny for any use; I forget just exactly what he said, but it was too good for anything."

"WHAT did he say to me, the beggar?" said the prisoner, in a fine burst of indignation. "Did you hear what he called me, yer Anner? He stopped an' stud still in the middle uv the street, an' he niver opened his blagyard head; he took off his coat just, and he trowed it down on the ground, like that, an' he tuck off his bloody hat an' he trowed it down on top of it, just, an' he spit on his hands an' clapped them, the wan in the other, like that; an' that's all he said, the blatherin' son of a gun; an' phwat more would ye want him to say before ye take the top of him in wid a pavin' hamme,?"

REUBEN KNOTT.

Says Reuben Knott unto his fair,
In language burning hot,
"Matilda, do you love me, dear?"
Says she, "I love you, Knott."
"Oh, say not so!" again he cried,
"Oh, share with me my lot!"
Oh, say that you will be my bride!"
Says she, "I'll wed you, Knott."
"Oh, cruel fair, to serve me so!"
I love you well, you wot!"
"I could not wed you, Reub.," says she,
"For then I should be Knott!"
A light breaks in on Reuben's mind,
And in his arms she's got.
She looks demurely in his face,
And says, "Pray kiss me, Knott."

A PAPER in Chicago having said that that city uses 70,000,000 gallons of water daily, the Baltimore American remarks that "half that amount is made into beer, and the other half is used to scald the bristles off of hogs."

"EVERY Little helps," said Mr. Little when Mrs. L. presented him with twins.

The Hardest Knot.

"What is the hardest knot to untie?" was the conundrum under discussion at summer resort debating society a few evenings ago. The various kinds of knots known to civilization were referred to, but a man with a red nose and a sly expression on his face thought that the knot that a green cucumber tied was the boss for intensity of purpose. The society then rose and visited the barkeeper to have the vote properly recorded on the books.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 27, 1881.

THE whole number of hogs killed in Cincinnati from November 1, 1881, to date is 273,914, against 385,693 for the same period last year.

SUPPOSE Jeff Davis did keep some of the money that was left over when the Southern Confederacy collapsed—who had a better right to it?

THE burden of the testimony thus far is that ex-President Davis did not appropriate to his own use any of the money belonging to the Confederate Government at the close of the war.

THE Kentucky Court of Appeals has decided that under the law of self defense the inquiry is not as to what the danger actually was, but as to what the danger appeared to be to the accused.

THE fact the East has control of the most important congressional committees while the Speaker is a Western man, leads the Covington Commonwealth to remark that it is probably the result of a bargain.

THE members of congress from the western States are loud in their complaints that Speaker Keiter has given the East control of the most important committees. Many Southern members are dissatisfied also. Pennsylvania has been especially favored in the appointment of chairmanships.

DURING the week ending Thursday there were fifty-sixty new cases of small-pox reported at Cincinnati and one hundred and fourteen cases treated. The Health Officer, to put the best face he can upon it, says that while the number of cases under treatment is increasing the death rate is diminishing somewhat.

THE New York Sun says: The investigation of the charges made against the Ninth Massachusetts, of disorderly conduct at Richmond, partly sustains those charges. Certain alleged offences are denied; but since no fewer than twenty men are expelled for drunkenness and unsoberly conduct, there is no doubt that the organization as a whole was disgraced by them.

THE Atlanta Constitution says: "So far as the present tariff system is concerned it is an imposition upon justice and common sense, and we are in favor of its thorough revision. We are in favor, moreover, of cutting off the vast system of subsidies that has been imposed upon the country by the monopolies, and the sooner this is done the sooner will the people be prepared to discuss sympathetically the propriety of bestowing real protection upon deserving industries. If the honest protectionists are wise they will insist upon these necessary reforms."

IT is certainly amazing that the country should submit so quietly to the tremendous injustice of the pension laws. Before the new laws took effect there were 242,755 pensioners on the rolls. During the fiscal year 1880, the increase was 8,017; during the present year the increase has been about 25,000. Next year it will probably be 50,000. There are now—sixteen years after the war—275,000 pensioners. The enormous increase in the burdens in the war after nearly a score of years has passed is an anomaly and an injustice. The people have a right to expect the war burdens to decrease. It is safe to say that many hundreds and probably thousands are now receiving pensions who are in now wise entitled thereto. Congress should stop the stealing, at least.

Atrocious Affair at Ashland, Ky.

A most horrible crime was committed at Ashland, Ky., Monday. Mr. J. W. Gibbons and his wife left home, leaving the house in charge of his fourteen-year-old daughter and a young lady named Emma Thomas, seventeen years of age. Shortly after the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons two ruffians entered the house and outraged the girls. The son of Mr. Gibbons was awakened by the cries of the girls and started from the house to get help, when, being discovered by the villains, he was caught and struck on the head with a hatchet, killing him instantly. The villains then returned to the house and murdered the girls. The house was then set fire, but the neighbors discovered the blaze in time to save the bodies of the girls from the flames. Every effort is being made to catch the perpetrators of the horrible deed. A reward of $1,200 has been offered.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 27, 1881.

Not content with stockings full,
They tried to fill their bodies,
By pouring down their thirsty throats
An awful sight of toddlers.
And, now, poor souls with burning throat
And sadly aching head,
They wish they had not looked upon
The wine when it was red.
And it to them will profit naught,
Though sore by conscience goaded,
To put the plea they did not know.
John Alcohol was loaded.

J. H. HALL & Co. shipped about one thousand plows to Louisiana on Monday.

THE Cabin creek omnibus upset on Wall street on Monday. Nobody was hurt.

THE pupils of Rev. M. D. Reynold's Sunday school class, on Christmas day, presented him with a handsome chair.

HORD, DIXON & Ross are feeding two hundred and fifty head of cattle and a number of hogs at the two cattle pens below this city.

THE annual election of officers of the Building Association, to serve the ensuing year, will be held at the council chamber next Saturday evening.

GRANT HILL, a negro boy, living at Aberdeen, was severely cut in the face Saturday, by the premature explosion of a small cannon he was firing.

CHRISTMAS in Maysville passed away rather quietly and with no serious casualty. With the exception of some dissipation there was nothing to criticize unfavorably.

OMAR DODSON is digging a cellar under the pavement in front of his business house on Second street. When it is finished a handsome freestone pavement is to be laid over it.

THE Covington Commonwealth of the 24th says: Mr. John Petty and Miss Marcella Cogan and Mr. Alex. Tuchman and Miss Betty Higgins, all of Maysville, were married night before last.

THE Mt. Olivet stage Saturday had as freight twenty-six jugs. We are not able to state what was in them but we have an opinion on the subject. Mt. Olivet undoubtedly had a merry Christmas.

UNCLE DAVID DICKSON, who is over eighty years of age, is the crack rifle shot of East Maysville. In a trial on Monday he beat the best shot in the ward. He used a weapon more than sixty years old.

ROBBIE ADAMS, son of Otho Adams, of the Adams Distillery Co., accidentally shot himself last week while handling a pistol. The ball lodged in the tissues of his leg near the ankle, and has not been extracted.

THE Enquirer of Saturday says: The new Morning Mail set the pegs yesterday morning for a starter. She went to the Widow Green's in one hour, and to New Richmond in forty minutes more. Twenty miles in 1:40.

THE following marriage licenses have been issued since our last report:

Miss Ella Jones, of Aberdeen, O., to Mr. Jas. Paul, of this city.
Miss Annie W. Coryell to W. W. Bullock, of this county.

COLORED.

Lucy Hawkins to Park Banks.

Mr. Robert F. Means, was fifty-five years old on Monday, and celebrated the day by entertaining a number of his friends at an elegant dinner. The occasion was a most enjoyable one, and all present joined in wishing him many happy returns of the day.

Bazar.

The Bazar at Neptune Hall, under the auspices of the Sisters of the Convent of the Visitation, opened Monday evening with a very large attendance, giving promise that the enterprise will be a gratifying success. It will continue, if the attendance continues to be large, during the week closing Saturday night.

The postoffice, which was a very interesting feature, was in charge of Misses Louisa Mace, Anna Grant, Mollie Varian and was well patronized.

We find the following list of uncalled for letters, which we are requested to say, if not called for in five days will be forwarded to the dead-letter office:

Chris. Brown, Mark Donovan,
Rev. J. B. Glorieux, M. F. Marsh,
S. J. Smith, John Hunt, (2)
Harry Wood, W. M. Hickey,
Dr. Paul Anderson, Miss Sallie Small,
John Melvaine, A. Wadsworth,
Ed. Cook, Miss Lizzie Adams,
Miss Jesse Robinson Chas. Mitchell,

The oyster table which was also well patronized was presided over by Mrs. Austin Holmes, Mrs. John Cole and Mrs. M. Mannion.

The lemonade stand or as it was called "Rebecca at the Well," was in charge of Misses Sallie Hunt and Nannie Cummings, and was the center of attraction.

The ice cream table was presided over by Misses Sue McDonald, Mollie Donovan, and Katie and Sarah Kain.

The fancy goods table was in charge of Misses Lizzie Adams, Nora Reagan, Mrs. Thomas Murphy and Mrs. M. R. Gilmore.

Among the attractive articles offered were a figure of Red Riding Hood, and a number of handsomely dressed dolls, that are to be raffled for before the close of the entertainment. A fine lot of silverware consisting of castors, water set, cake baskets, butter dishes, and a handsome china set will be raffled also.

Some very fine specimens of needle work and tapestry done by the Sisters was much admired and attracted general attention. These articles will be raffled for also. The receipts for the evening amounted to $88.45.

R. H. NEWELL, jr., yesterday received by the Kentucky Central something over four hundred bushels of corn.

THE venerable John Scudder for so many years a respected citizen of Maysville died on Sunday last at Elizaville, at the home of his son, the Rev. Henry M. Scudder, where he has lived since his removal from this city. He had reached the ripe age of eighty-three and died as he had lived, a Christian in every sense of the word. He came to Maysville in 1845, and at the time of his death had been married fifty-five years. Mrs. Scudder who is in her seventy-eighth year survives him.

Mrs. SIMONDS, the amiable wife of Mr. Geo. T. Simonds, of the Central Hotel, was most agreeably surprised on Sunday morning with a gift from the help of the house, which she must appreciate very highly. It was a beautiful solid silver tea service of six pieces of the handsomest design. Every one about the hotel is much attached to Mrs. Simonds, and the gift was intended as a token of the estimation in which she is held by all. It was supplied by Mr. Herman Lange, of this city.

Sales of Land.

The following changes in the ownership of land have been recorded at the office of the Clerk of the County Court since our last report:

Wm. H. Case and wife to W. T. Tomlin, 33% acres on North Fork, this county; consideration, $1,000.
Madison Simpson to Washington Simpson, 83 acres in Mason county; consideration, $1,500.
Wash. Simpson to Mad. Simpson, 66 acres in Mason county; consideration, conveyance of 83 acres.
Charles B. Anderson and wife to Bettie F. Chisholm, lot in fifth ward, of Maysville, 41x76 feet; consideration, $200.
Charlotte Bradley and husband to James Hanson, Jr., two lots in Chester; consideration, $300.

PERSONALS.

Points About People here and Elsewhere

Miss Jennie Lee returned to her home at Portsmouth, Saturday.

Mr. Ike Boughner, pilot of the steamer Bonanza, spent Christmas with his friends in this city.

Mr. Wilson Richeson attended a hop at Paris last night.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hall will leave Wednesday for New Orleans, La., to spend the winter.

Miss Emma Means, who has been very sick, we are pleased to say, is much better.

The Hon. E. C. Phister arrived from Washington, Friday.

Mr. John Riff, of Covington, spent Sunday and Monday, in Maysville.

Mr. J. H. Archdeacon, of Cincinnati and Mr. James Fehen, of Mt. Sterling, are in Maysville to spend the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Stockton and Miss Lulie Soper, of Georgetown, Ky., are the guests of the family of Mr. J. M. Stockton.

Miss McLaughlin, of Covington, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Robert Ficklin.

Mr. James McIlvaine, of Louisville spent Christmas in Maysville.

Mr. Wilson Loughridge and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Spalding, all of Louisville, are in Maysville to spend the holidays.

PROF. CLIFTON will lecture on the subject of "Phonetics," at Aberdeen to-morrow evening.

WHILE the neighboring cities and towns are afflicted with small-pox and other loathsome diseases, Maysville has escaped. How long will it be so? Let something be done immediately by the authorities. Let all the filthy places in the city have prompt attention. If this is done without delay there need be no apprehension of visitation by disease. The general health of the city is good now and has been for some time past. With a little of the right kind of effort it will continue so.

A Child Actress' Training.

New York Tribune Dec. 8.

The child actress, Corinne, was examined yesterday before Justice Donohue, in the Court Chambers, in the proceedings begun by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children to remove her from the custody of her foster-mother, Jennie Flaherty. She testified that she had not been photographed in tights, nor without clothes on her breast and arms though her photograph had been taken when she was dressed as a policeman. She could not write, but could print with a pencil. She had never gone to school but her mamma taught her every morning after breakfast. She had attended Sunday School once with her cousin. She did not know what the Bible was, and had "never been taught anything about Jesus." (At this point Corinne's counsel interposed that he, too, had never been taught anything about Jesus, which seemed "so much worse," to Mr. Delafield, "so much the better" to the counsel himself.) She said a prayer every night, and her prayer was "a little child's prayer,"—"Now I lay me down to sleep," etc., ending with; "God bless papa: God bless mamma; God bless the sick and everybody." She said the prayer because mamma taught it to her.

"OLD SI."

He Has a Warning for a Visiting Statesman.

Old Si came in yesterday afternoon and while polishing up the marble lillies about the stem of the asthetic editor's lamp, inquired:

Does yer reckon' dar's eny trufe in de 'port dat Mr. Blaine am sho' 'nuf comin' ter de expizishun?"

"I imagine it is too utterly true!"

"Well, I ain't got no konflikt fer ter git up, ef he do," said the old man. But as he finished his job, he said:

"Now, dat ar bizness notis in de tellergram am what took my eye!"

"In what way?"

"Dat de trip was undertaken jess fer plezhur an' and fer perlitenss-sake. Dat soun'ed ter me pow'fully like wun er dese adfertisin' kyards dat's got 'please doan' look on de udder side,' printed on de back."

"How?"

"W'y, we all kno's dat he'd jess ez soon be President nex' time ez ter stan' roun' hongry wid his hed ober de top rail too fur fum de troff ter git eben a smell ob de feed."

"Well?"

"An' ef yer gwine ter try ter jump de fence while de udder hosses iz er feedin' mighty bizzy an' frocklin' moughty frisky, yer got to git er good runnin' start fo' yer takes de rize."

"That's so."

"But Mister Blaine better tess his lungs moughty well and mezbur moughty close er he ar gwine ter go foul. I'ze bin ter menny er jumpin' match an' I'ze seed hit time an' agin!"

"Seen what?"

"Seed er man git back so fur an' den run so fas' dat w'en he got ter de rizen-line biz ham-strings refused fer ter pulsate! I tells yer time an' space am de rite an' lef' legs in er perliterkul race!"

And with this outburst the old man slid into the art rooms of the sanctum.

The steamer Granger, loaded with cotton, rosin and turpentine, burned on entering Charleston harbor. The crew and passengers escaped.
